everywhere would have to forfeit positions of prominence in key state and local labor echelons. It also would mean ostracism and all-out warfare with practically all the rest of organized labor—a fight that could be bloody and could endure for many years.

What effect this will have on the 44-year-old Hoffa's ambitions to take over the teamsters' presidency from Dave Beck will depend on how delegates react at the Teamsters convention. It starts Sept. 30 at Miami Beach, Fla. Hoffa, like Brewster, is now a union vice president.

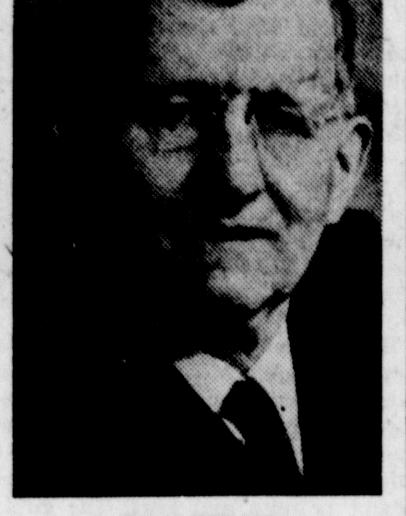

Three other union officials are opposing Hoffa for election to the presidency and one of them, Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago, announced he will start tomorrow a campaign swing through the East. He plans to visit Washington, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit in the course of a speaking tour.

Dulles Tells U.N. Soviet Arms In Syria Are Posing A "Growing Military Danger"

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles called on the U. N. today to intervene in the Middle East situation. He said Soviet arms in Syria pose "a growing military danger" to Turkey.

The secretary of state in a major policy speech told the 82-nation General Assembly "the United Nations may not be able by any material power it can muster to tranquilize the scene." But he declared it must exert its full influence to end Soviet efforts to dominate the Middle East.

Dulles said the Communists appear to be engaging in acts aimed at impairing the freedom and independence of certain Middle East nations.

"Also," he said, "we believe that these Soviet acts may, perhaps unwittingly, lead the recipients of Soviet arms into acts of direct aggression."

"Those who feel an abnormal sense of power as a result of the recent putting into their hands of large amounts of Soviet bloc arms are being incited by violent propaganda," he added.

FIREMEN PLAN PROGRAMS IN SQUARE OCT. 7-10

The Gettysburg Fire Department will present a four-night series of programs on Lincoln Square as part of its observance of National Fire Prevention Week the board of officers decided at a meeting Wednesday evening at the engine house, E. Middle St.

The programs will extend from 7 to 9 o'clock each evening, October 7, 8, 9 and 10, the board decided. During the demonstrations and programs the south side of the square will be restricted from parking and the fire apparatus will be on display there.

Preliminary plans outlined by Fire Chief Donald W. McSherry at Wednesday's meeting call for programs and demonstrations, movies on fire prevention and special activities there each evening.

Tentative Outline

Pending confirmation of dates when equipment and speakers are available, the program for the four nights will include: Speaking, demonstrations and movies one night; special fire fighting demonstration by outside experts; a special water battle and demonstrations by Gettysburg firemen and an "Old Timers' Night."

During each evening firemen will be on duty with the equipment to explain the purpose and operation of the various equipment owned by the fire department.

Literature will be distributed to inform the public of methods to prevent fires and the movies to be shown will give graphic details of how to prevent conflagrations, and how to prevent their spread if they do occur.

"Gettysburg has a good record for fire prevention," Chief McSherry told the other officers "but we hope by illustration and demonstration to help the general public remove fire dangers which they may not suspect."

HOOVER WANTS PUBLIC AROUSED ABOUT "MUCK"

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today an aroused public opinion is needed to combat "muck merchants" who peddle obscenity to the children as well as adults.

Speaking at the closing session of the American Legion's 39th annual convention, Hoover launched his attack on off-color photographs and publications after calling for more united family life to curb delinquency. He also declared the diminished Communist party in the United States still is boring from within.

"One cannot help but admire the overwhelming majority of our young people, particularly when the number and nature of the evil forces confronting them in their day-to-day living is considered," Hoover said.

Need Stiffer Penalties

He said peddlers of obscene pictures and writing trash have so flooded the market within the past few years that to find a new rack without samples of it is the rare exception.

"Stiffer legal penalties, particularly in local and state courts, are needed to replace the frequent wrist slap given those convicted of this vile trade," Hoover said.

"Not until longer sentences and heavier fines remove the financial advantages of this traffic will the producers, distributors and dealers of filth be driven out of this sickening business."

NEW MISSILES SQUADRON SOON

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's long-range H-bombers soon will be reinforced by a new Air Force squadron equipped with intercontinental guided missiles.

The Air Force announced yesterday its first Snark squadron, numbering 500 officers and men, is rounding out its training in California and will be on duty with the Strategic Air Command before the end of this year. The base to which the squadron will be assigned will be announced later.

The Snark—essentially a pilotless bomber—is designed to carry a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles at about the speed of sound. This is much slower than the intercontinental ballistic missile.

But the Snark is expected to give the United States added long-range retaliatory capability while an ICBM is being developed. The Russians claim they already have successfully tested an intercontinental rocket.

The Northrop Aircraft Co. plant at Hawthorne, Calif., now is producing 73 million dollars worth of Snarks. The new squadron is training at Hawthorne.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today refused to appear as a witness in a federal court case involving four anti-integration acts passed by the 1957 Arkansas Legislature.

PAY-AND-SEE TV SEEN NEAR

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today held out the possibility that pay-as-you-see television may be on the air in some cities sometime in 1958.

If it is, it will be on a strictly trial basis for three years, to determine public acceptance and clear up unresolved technical questions.

No operating permits will be issued earlier than next March 1. And this would be only the starting point for the lengthy job of setting up the service and distributing equipment.

FCC announced yesterday that it had reached a tentative decision to permit trial demonstrations of subscription TV.

FCC announced last May it had decided it had the legal authority to authorize fee television. It did so after a number of congressmen, the National Assn. of Radio Television Broadcasters, and the major networks contended that such authority rested with Congress alone.

Missile Is Blasted Into Clouds Today

MISSILE TEST CENTER, Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—A missile believed to be one of the smaller types blasted off from this top-secret launching base at 9:46 a.m. today and disappeared quickly into a gray cloud bank.

Taking off in a low arc, the rocket streaked away very fast and was out of sight in seconds. After it vanished, two balls of fire which may have been booster shots were seen falling into the Atlantic.

Newsman viewed the firing from three miles away, through a misty rain.

This has been an active week of missile testing here. Yesterday, a red and white missile believed to be the now superseded Navaho was fired with Asst. Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles as a witness.

ALKER GIVEN PRISON, FINE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harry Alker, Norristown and Philadelphia attorney, today was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $10,000 on charges of making false statements in connection with federal estate taxes he handled.

Alker was sentenced by U.S. District Judge C. William Kraft who rejected appeals of his attorneys for leniency and for probation because of the defendant's age and physical condition.

Alker, 73, has been hospitalized in the past year because of a stomach condition.

Alker had been convicted a year ago on income tax evasion and sentenced to a year in prison and fined $30,000. He is appealing this conviction and is presently free in jail.

His attorney today, Raymond J. Bradley, told Judge Kraft he planned to appeal the latest sentence and conviction. Judge Kraft deferred action on setting additional bail.

Warner Hospital's Physical Therapy Department Performs "Miracle" For Woman Stricken By Polio

The following is the first of a series of articles The Gettysburg Times will publish to acquaint its readers of the varied services available at the Annie M. Warner Hospital.

A minor miracle happened at Warner Hospital the other day. At least, that's what it seemed like to Mrs. Mark (Vickie Maust) Yingling, 338 S. Washington St., when she found herself taking her first steps on her own after four months, when she was carried into the hospital helpless, the victim of a disease which had completely paralyzed her.

Now, thanks alike to her determination to recover, the care she received, and four months of intensive hard work, Mrs. Yingling has returned to her home.

Fine Therapy Department
This young patient is one of numerous residents of the Gettysburg area for whom the physical therapy department at Warner Hospital has meant the difference between semi-invalidism and normal, useful activity.

Created in 1954 under the supervision of Rodney Harbaugh, the hospital's physical therapist, the department is regarded as one of the finest in the country for a hospital its size.

Its services are in great demand for a wide variety of disorders. To Warner Hospital come persons disabled by such crippling illnesses as arthritis, rheumatism, polio, multiple sclerosis and brain and spinal cord damage. To it also come patients to regain the use of limbs weakened by fractures, injuries and operations.

As a complex medical science, physical therapy is relatively new. But its basic principles—the use of heat, cold, massage and exercise to relieve pain and restore the normal functioning of bones and muscles—are as old as medicine itself.

Tub Was "Sure Cure"
For example, great-grandmother's complete faith in the hot-water tub as a "sure-cure" for aches and pains was an early, if primitive, use of physical therapy. Direct descendant of the tub is today's whirlpool bath, a simple looking but complex mechanism which supplies the two beneficial qualities of wet-heat and massage.

Again, the healing powers of the sun have been recognized for many centuries. It was not until recently, however, that the sun's rays were harnessed by medical science and the full benefits of ultra-violet and infra-red were put into action for the purpose of physical rehabilitation.

The small but fully-equipped physical therapy department at the Warner Hospital houses a whole battery of specialized apparatus, ranging from simple aids for physical exercises to highly intricate equipment for the electrical stimulation of muscles and nerves.

Pressing Need
For the treatment of acute disabilities, Warner Hospital offers patients the benefits of a physical therapy department with all basic equipment. True, Harbaugh hopes that some day space will be available to create a therapeutic gymnasium. But first things first.

At present, Warner Hospital's most pressing needs are for more patients' beds, a separate pediatric department and expanded service facilities. It is these needs which will be supplied by the $350,000 building fund campaign now under way.

Church Officers Will Be Installed

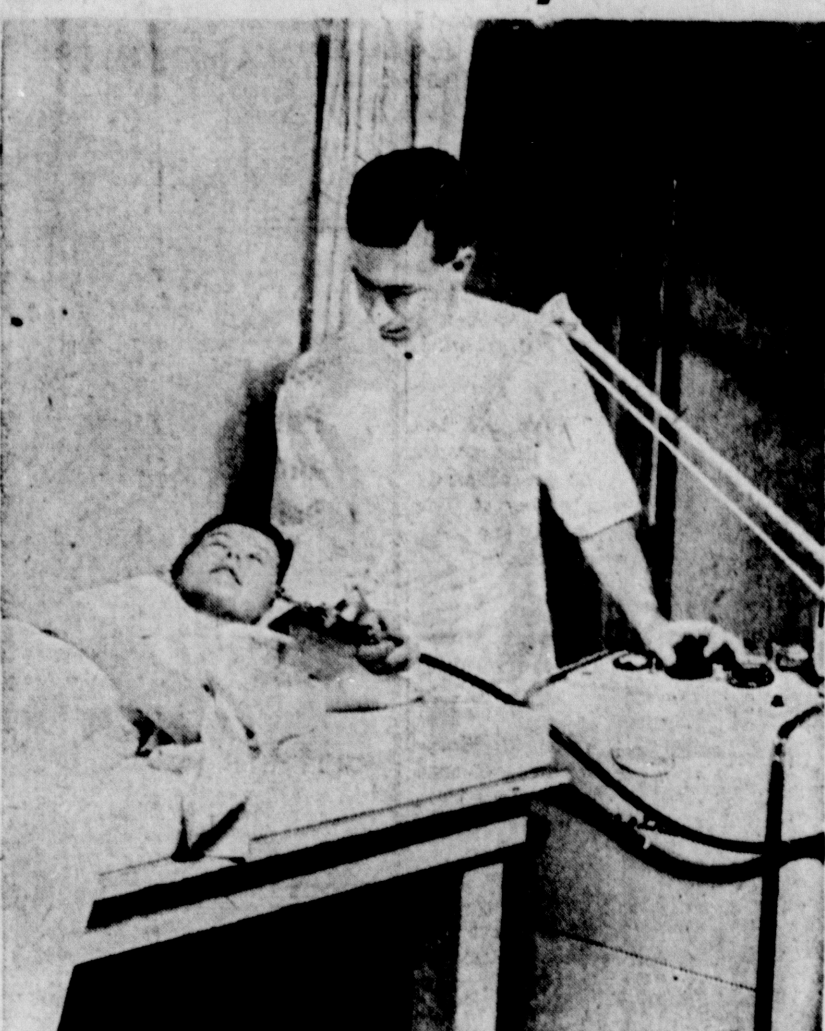

During the 10 a.m. service Sunday the newly elected officers of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, will be installed. They are: President, Miss Mary Wilhite; vice president, David Bair; secretary, Miss Sandra Shorb; treasurer, Miss Bonita Bair; and reporter, Miss Doris Bollinger. Miss Pearl Bollinger is the advisor of the League. The retiring officers are John Reeve, president; Robert Clingan, vice president; Miss Doris Bollinger, secretary; and Miss Evelyn Bollinger, treasurer.

In the afternoon at 2:30 about 20 members of the Luther League will leave for the Fall Rally of the Carroll District of the Maryland Synod Luther League, at Upperco, Md. Miss Lois Hahn is the secretary of the Carroll District. The next meeting of Trinity's League will be at 7 p.m. Sunday, September 29.

Cannot Transfer Appropriations

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Welfare Department is prohibited from transferring appropriations among various state hospitals under a new Justice Department ruling. The opinion written yesterday declared that "once an allocation is made the department is bound to disburse the funds in accordance with the terms of the appropriation act."

Another opinion dated yesterday found unconstitutional a provision of the 1957 appropriation law which would have limited payment of three million dollars in state funds to county health units receiving such aid as of last July 19.

The use of heat, one of man's oldest healing principles, is brought up to date in Warner Hospital's physical therapy department. The diathermy machine, operated above by Rodney Harbaugh, the hospital's physical therapist, permits deep penetration of heat to relieve pain and help restore normal functioning of the body.

State Asks Delaware County To Resurvey Consolidation Of Schools; Called "Explosive"

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Delaware County school board was asked to resurvey its long-range school consolidation plans after a Justice Department representative termed the racial problem there "very explosive."

The State Council of Education made the request yesterday by unanimous vote. Stephen B. Narin, former deputy attorney general and now special attorney for the State Justice Department, outlined the entire county consolidation picture.

"There is a very explosive local situation there," he warned.

Composed of nine members the state agency is an advisory-legislative unit of the Public Instruction Department. One of its many duties—which include allotment of state aid for schools—is to pass upon the creation or consolidation of school districts.

Co-defendant In Suit
At present the council is co-defendant in racial segregation equity suit now before the U.S. District Court in Philadelphia.

U. S. TO REVIEW ITS DECISION ON U. S. ROUTE 11

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads disclosed today it is reviewing a previous decision approving rebuilding of U.S. 11 as a superhighway between the Scranton and Harrisburg, Pa., areas. "We're making a review of all facts to determine whether the presently approved route or one west of the Susquehanna River is better from the standpoint of both local and national interests," a bureau spokesman told a newsman.

He said the review is being made by field representatives of the bureau and by the Washington office. A final decision will be made by the Bureau of Public Roads, federal highway administrator.

Protest Routing
Routing of the proposed new section of highway through the Schuylkill County anthracite coal region was protested here recently by a civic delegation from Bloomsburg and other communities along the North Branch of the Susquehanna.

Headed by Paul R. Eyerly, Bloomsburg, the group asked Tallamy and the bureau to look into routing the road closer to the present path of U.S. 11, which follows the west bank of both the North Branch and main stem of the Susquehanna River. The delegation contended that the State Highways Department had not given adequate consideration to the west side of the river in making its decision favoring the more easterly route.

Since the new road will be part of the interstate highway system, under which the federal government pays 90 per cent of the construction cost, the Bureau of Public Roads has the final say. The bureau already has approved a stretch from Scranton to Ashland and from there to Indiantown Gap, near Harrisburg.

boundaries of seven districts in two areas. One contains 90 per cent white students and the other 90 per cent Negroes.

Narin reviewed for the council the entire picture on school consolidation in Delaware County, precipitating an argument within the board itself on just what action should be taken.

Narin told the council that the long range school consolidation plan in Delaware County involves placing Darby Borough and Darby Twp. both with heavy Negro populations in one district and Folcroft, Glenolden, Collingsdale, Sharon Hill and Colwyn, predominantly white, in the second district.

Split In 2 Sections
Darby Twp. is split into two sections which do not touch each other. Neither does the borough of Darby touch the two sections of Darby Township.

The picture of Negro students being transferred to the high school in Darby was criticized by Dr. James H. Duckrey, president of Cheyney State Teachers College.

"It looks to me like a gerrymandering of school districts with the result of racial discrimination," said the college president, the only Negro on the State Council.

Narin explained that none of the individual schools in the area is segregated, that Negroes attend schools dominated by white pupils and vice versa.

Threw Out Action
U.S. District Judge J. Cullen Ganey, recently threw out a suit seeking to prevent construction of a new junior high school in an area of Darby Twp. in which mostly whites reside.

But he withheld final decision on a companion suit attacking the constitutionality of the county school consolidation plan on grounds of racial discrimination. Ganey, according to Narin, said he wanted to see if the State Council or the county school board would do something about the school merger blueprint in the meantime.

Dr. Paul Anderson, president of Chatham College and a council member, said the state agency should approach the problem not from the racial segregation angle but from the viewpoint of accomplishing a more efficient administrative school unit.

No Discrimination
"We're not trying to settle all the race questions in Pennsylvania, I hope," he said.

Dr. Stephen Sweeney, a university of Pennsylvania professor and also a council member, said the school districts in Delaware County developed over the years on what he termed a natural division of townships into boroughs.

"There was never any racial discrimination involved that I knew of," said the professor who resides in Delaware County. Gov. Leader recently reiterated an order intended to wipe out any form of racial segregation in Pennsylvania schools under penalty of losing state financial aid.

"WHAT ARE ANGELS"

How can words describe an angel... what can mankind ever say... that would do an angel justice... in a most endearing way... is an angel made of stardust... or the pale moon's mellow light... that engulfs the world with wonder... in the quiet of the night... or do angels stem from flowers... that give beauty to this life... books define them just as spirits... who can help us weather strife... others look upon an angel... as a foe of Lucifer... those with loveliness of nature... and a golden character... all of these are right yet somehow... they all seem to just fall short... of a profound definition... that is removed from retort... angels are beyond conception... of the mind of mortal man... purer than the blessed sunshine... part of God's immortal plan.

ASIAN FLU IS SPREADING IN FOUR COUNTRIES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Asian flu continued to spread today in Europe, England, the United States and Canada. In England 14 recent deaths in one town have been attributed to the virus.

Outbreaks also have occurred in Portugal, Cyprus, Italy and the Netherlands.

In this country some 65,000 cases have been reported, an increase of about 15,000 since the U.S. Public Service's last previous estimate Sept. 12. Further outbreaks have been reported in New York, Texas, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Florida and Oklahoma.

Twelve counties in Mississippi have been described as nearing the epidemic stage. School-age children appear to be the hardest hit to date, with many schools being closed.

Turned To Pneumonia
In the English town of Sheffield, Deputy Medical officer C. H. Shaw, commenting on 14 deaths believed caused by the Asian flu, said: "There is little doubt that some of the cases started with flu and turned to pneumonia."

Of the total of 19 deaths in England blamed on the flu, four children were among the victims. However, Health Ministry officials in London said through a spokesman: "Asian flu is much milder than the ordinary type. This outbreak has reached epidemic proportions only in certain areas, not sufficient to warrant wholesale use of anti-flu vaccine."

In the Netherlands, the spread of Asian flu in the southern mining area cut coal production 17 per cent. Many cases were appearing in Rotterdam, The Hague and Amsterdam. To date, few deaths have been reported.

4,000 Soldiers Stricken
In Lisbon, Portugal, more than 4,000 of 20,000 troops on NATO maneuvers have been stricken. The military operation is proceeding according to schedule.

Asian flu also hit 20,000 Italian servicemen, although some 16,000 of those already have returned to duty. Three deaths were reported, but the fatalities were described as complications not necessarily related to the flu epidemic.

A wave of flu cases has been reported in Canada but only a few of them were identified as victims of the Asian type.

In the United States, the Public Health Service goal of eight million anti-flu vaccine shots by mid-September has fallen short. Thus far, only 5,430,442 doses have been released.

But the federal health agency says an estimated 85 million doses will be produced as expected by the end of the year.

INTEREST RATE UP TO 7 PER CENT

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England today raised its interest rate to 7 per cent—highest in 36 years—in an attempt to stop inflation and prevent devaluation of the pound sterling. The effect will be stern belt-tightening throughout Britain. The rate has been 5 per cent.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft issued a statement saying the government intends to maintain the existing exchange rate parity at $2.80 to the pound.

Virtually every financial institution in the country, from neighborhood branch banks to great private concerns, will now almost automatically increase interest rates correspondingly. This will mean less money will be available for ordinary spending. The government hopes thus to reduce imports, divert more industrial products into export markets, and rebuild the country's sagging gold and dollar reserves.

Thorneycroft said the government will also hold down public spending and limit private borrowing.

Orndorff, Bonneauville, second vice commander in charge of membership; Arnold Cederberg, York, third vice president in charge of Youth Activities; Richard J. Glackin, York, treasurer; Jesse Grabb Jr., McSherrystown, judge advocate; W. J. McCann, Lancaster, historian; Bernard J. The delegates present at Bonneauville from York, Lancaster, Columbia, Bonneauville, McSherrystown and Mechanicsburg posts unanimously supported a motion favoring adoption of the Korean war bonus legislation and urging all voters to support it "as a tangible demonstration of our state's appreciation of the sacrifices made by the Korean veterans."

nations for board offices when the directors elect in November. Their report Wednesday evening was given by Mr. Bullett and the election followed by acclamation.

Summer activities carried on by the executive committee since the board's last meeting in May included special shots and plates for a crippled boy, therapy treatments at the Warner Hospital, a brace and shoes for another youngster and special shoes for two other handicapped children. The society approved those executive committee actions.

Mrs. Joseph F. Bushey, state nurse, said the next diagnostic clinic will be held October 23 and the executive committee was authorized to handle any requests for shoes and braces that require action before the November board meeting. Dr. Bartholomew asked the society to consider increasing its board of directors from 24 to 30 and announced an Easter Seal TV program on the "Wide World" show on September 29.

A color, sound film, "Crutches Go To Camp," was introduced by Mr. Dillon, a member of the committee on arrangements for the annual meeting. It showed the work done at summer camps, Easter Seal and Daddy Allen, by the state Society for Crippled Children and Adults each summer. The president thanked the committee on arrangements for the meeting which was headed by Mrs. Ralph D. Heim.

About 20 attended. Miss Evans thanked the society for her nomination for a "Brace for an Ace" award which was presented to her at the state society's annual convention in York in May.

RED WARSHIPS SAIL FOR SYRIA

LONDON (AP)—Two Soviet warships sailed for Syria today on a "friendship" mission, taking a course that could bring them close to the U.S. 7th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean.

Moscow radio announced last night that the cruiser Zhdanov and the destroyer Svobodny are heading for the Syrian port of Latakia at the invitation of the leftist government of Syria.

The Syrian government only last week charged U.S. warships made a provocative approach toward the Syrian coast. The U.S. Navy denied this.

The Soviet visit appeared to be a move to build Russian influence in the Mediterranean and bolster the Damascus regime.

It also appeared obvious the move was designed to counteract the U.S. fleet's cruise in the eastern Mediterranean. The U.S. fleet moved into the area after leftist army officers extended their control in Syria last month. The U.S. warships called at pro-Western Lebanon.

The Soviet vessels headed for Syria after a six-day visit to the Yugoslav port of Split.

Turkey Faces Danger

"One consequence of this is that Turkey now faces growing military danger from the major buildup of Soviet arms in Syria on its southern border, a buildup concerted with Soviet military power on Turkey's northern border."

"Last week the Soviet Union sought to intimidate Turkey from making internal dispositions of its security forces to protect against a possible Soviet pincer movement."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will have his say before the Assembly tomorrow.

CITES WAY TO CIVIL RIGHTS

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower—on the eve of the Arkansas school integration showdown—says the way to civil rights progress is mainly through "explanation, understanding and moderation."

It is in that way—and "not in laws alone"—that there will be rapid achievement of equality under the Constitution, the President says.

Eisenhower set forth his views anew late yesterday in agreeing to meet with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), a Negro, for a discussion of the Negroes' point of view on integration problems generally.

Bolted Democrats

Powell, Harlem minister who bolted the Democratic party in the 1956 presidential race to support Eisenhower for re-election, wired the President Tuesday saying with respect to the school integration situation: "... I feel now that in the light of the growing crisis, it would be very helpful for you to get the Negroes' point of view directly."

Powell had suggested that President invite him and other Negro leaders to a parley on integration. There was no indication the President would meet with Negro leaders other than Powell.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, said it might be a few days before a time and

Today's Talk

ENVIRONMENT
Little do we realize the importance of environment. Its influence is immediate and far-reaching. Good environment is a blessing, but bad environment often is a serious handicap. There are those, however, who overcome it and rise above it.

A child, for example, should have the advantage of a happy environment. No matter how simple its home. God-fearing parents, wholesome companions, cleanliness, not only of the body, but the mind, all count up. And if that child can be made to open its eyes to everything beautiful about it, in later life it will be well rewarded.

In 1923 a book called "Weeds," by Edith Summers Kelly, was published, but few bought it and today it would be difficult to locate a copy, but I read it, and it remains one of my treasured books. The sordidness and poverty of the Kentucky tobacco fields is told in realistic fashion, but one character remains in my mind, that of a small child who loved beauty wherever it was, and she loved everything in nature, though she seemed to meet opposition at every turn. Even in the face of this environment she stood out like a lone star.

Not always can environment be chosen to meet one's wish, but we can make it make us! We are not compelled to stay in an environment that keeps defeating us. On the other hand it can enrich us, and thereby help to scatter our influence far and wide.

We are born to a certain environment but there comes a time when we may create our own, beautifying it and our individual life according to our taste and means. And as we improve our own environment, we inspire others to do the same. There are always new frontiers to a hopeful and ambitious mind!

Just Folks

REASONS FOR GLADNESS
There are so many reasons for gladness

And so many reasons to smile,
That in spite of the trouble and sadness

Each minute of living's worth while.

For with all of the travail and sorrow

And all of the burdens I know,
I eagerly wait for the morrow,
Still finding some joy as I go.

I never have wept but around me Kind friends have rallied and stayed.

And never a burden has found me
But what others have flocked to my aid.

I never in darkness have wandered
But some one has shown me
the way;

On me so much friendship is squandered
I'm forced to rejoice every day.

There's never been a day so depressing
But what love has brightened for me.

No care that came not with a blessing
If I had the courage to see,
And so, though uphill I am treading

And stormy and rough be my way,
I still find, to silence my dreading,
Good reasons to smile and be gay.

Urges Exemptions As Aid To Colleges

PHILADELPHIA — A steel company executive today urged higher tax exemptions for industrial gifts to higher education as one effort to meet a fast-climbing collegiate enrollment.

Deductions up to 3 per cent from state and federal income taxes were suggested by T. Newell Wood, president of the Pressed Steel Co.,
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Philadelphia Public Relations Assn.

Wood estimated that if the 3 per cent exemption had existed in fiscal 1955, Pennsylvania colleges and universities could have received more than $8 million dollars in corporate gifts. In 1956, he said, the Foundation of Independent Colleges of Pennsylvania Inc. was able to raise only $308,000 from 215 Pennsylvania firms.

SPENDING FOR U. S. DEFENSE BIG PROBLEM

By ED CREAGH
WASHINGTON — Guess who said this on Sept. 17, 1957:

"We must give our whole support to the national defense, cost what it may. We must announce our convictions that no price is too high to pay for the precious gift of national security."

Give up? Well, the man who said this in a speech to the American Legion at Atlantic City, N.J., this week is Louis A. Johnson, a former secretary of defense.

He is the same man who got bounced out of Harry S. Truman's Cabinet because his critics said he was pinching pennies too much.
There is no intention here to pick on Johnson because his views may have taken a 180-degree turn.
The point is that times, conditions and opinions do change.

Political pressures do, too, and this is something for Americans to be concerned about.

Stressed Economy
The past few years have seen backing and filling on defense policy to a degree that would have bordered on comic opera if the life or death of the nation hadn't been involved.

First Dwight D. Eisenhower became president and many feared that a general in the White House would want guns, guns and more guns even if the people didn't get any butter.

As it turned out, Eisenhower put great stress on economy. So much so that the Democrats in Congress kept offering more defense money than Eisenhower was willing to accept. This was the pattern throughout the President's first term.

Positions Changed
Then came the second term, and positions changed as in a game of musical chairs. The Democrats cried out against big spending and wouldn't give the President all he asked. Complicating matters, it wasn't always possible for Congress to find out what he did want.

So the defense budget for the next few years turns out—as so often in the past—to be a political compromise.
Meanwhile, the Russians claim
they have a successful intercontinental missile. Eisenhower pretty much pooh-poohs the claim.
This country fires off some big rockets of its own—and cancels some other rocket development for lack of money.

Total confusion?

Time Runs Short
No, not total. There is a large measure of year-by-year understanding between the Pentagon and the committees of Congress which pass on military spending.
Headline rows between Democrats and Republicans often obscure it, but it exists.

Is it great enough to insure an adequate defense in the future?
Or is there need for Eisenhower and the Democratic leaders of Congress to get together, lay the facts on the table between them and decide without political considerations what must be done?

Time is getting short.
Already, at his Newport, R.I., vacation spot the President is going over the figures for the 1958-59 budget.

Already, looking to the 1958
congressional election, the Democrats are talking about a tax cut.
Are Eisenhower and the Democrats speaking the same language on national defense? It seems doubtful. The best way they could find out would be to ask each other.

Lentz Accepts Plaque At Ceremony

MCO WORKERS GIVEN AWARD

Gettysburg employees of Metropolitan Edison Company have received the local utility's semi-annual division award for their "superior housekeeping of company facilities during the first six months of 1957." It was announced today by William A. Lentz, district manager.

In recognition of this achievement, Frederic Cox, division manager for the company, presented a plaque at a special ceremony held at the company service center here.
Lentz accepted on behalf of his co-workers in the district.

Judging to select the award winner was conducted on the basis of cleanliness, orderliness, lack of safety hazards and the general condition and appearance of buildings, grounds and other MECO facilities in this area. Members of the inspection team were Kenneth G.
Cregar, system safety director;
George G. Keller, general line foreman; Samuel A. Wise, senior storekeeper; and Ellsworth R. J. Diven, Western Division safety director.

They agreed that the inspection disclosed an example of some of the outstanding housekeeping work accomplished by any unit of the utility's
Western Division 32 years ago.

The Gettysburg employees will retain possession of the coveted plaque for six months when another inspection is scheduled. This is the second time they have won the trophy in the last three years.
Honors for the previous period went to employees at the York service building of the company.

BORGE, PIANO HUMOR IS TOPS

The razor-edged, unpredictable satirical humor of Victor Borge, the virtuoso of the piano and comedy, will begin an engagement at the Hershey Community Theater on October 14.

Borge, the inventor of the humor,
which it's widely agreed has no counterpart in the history of the entertainment world, shrugs his shoulders to define the particular flavor of his comedy.

"My humor," he says, "comes from the unexpected. For instance I announce that I am going to play the Minute Waltz, which is the first piece of music I ever learned. I say my sister taught it to me, that she is a brilliant musician and my favorite sister.

Then I stop. I can't remember her name."

"It's not really funny, it is a shock, a contradiction. After all, what is a caricature? It is like a person, but unlike him at the same time. It is a paradox."
That is about as close as anybody has gotten to describing Borge's humor.

U.S. District Judge John W.
Murphy denied the defense request after the prosecution rested its case yesterday.

James O'Donnell of Moscow, Pa., a government inspector and the last prosecution witness, testified that money was supplied by a Philadelphia paint contractor for bribes Laurelli is accused of attempting.

Was Offered Bribe O'Donnell, the second witness to say he was offered bribes by Laurelli, said he was asked in late February or early March of 1954 to overlook omission of work in a contract held by John B. Kemmel of Philadelphia.

O'Donnell said he refused the offer and told Laurelli to tell Kem-mel "he doesn't have enough money to buy me."

Laurelli served as superintendent for Kemmel on the 33-million-dollar construction job. He is the first of 15 defendants indicted after a lengthy federal grand jury investigation and is also under indictment on charges of fraud.

Always wash lemons before grating the rind from them. It's a good idea to place the grater on a sheet of waxed paper and then gather up the shreds of rind with a small spatula.

New Russian Propaganda Says
They Can Destroy U.S., Allies

By JOHN SCALI
WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia appears to have launched an all-out propaganda campaign to publicize its boast that new Soviet rockets can now destroy the United States and its allies.

Moscow's aim seems to be to convince the world it is an invincible military giant now that it has announced a claim to the world's first intercontinental missile.

U.S. officials have confirmed the test-firing of such missiles by Russia, but have expressed doubt that any are in production or available for operational use.

Very Intense
American officials who keep a constant check on Soviet propaganda said the campaign is remarkable because of its intensity. In one 72-hour period checked, they said, Radio Moscow featured this military boast some 80 times.

Soviet home broadcasts also are hitting this theme hard, as are Soviet newspapers and magazines. Nearly all quote liberally from remarks by Soviet Air Marshal Konstantin A. Vershinin, commander in chief of the Soviet air force. Vershinin first laid down the line in an interview featured prominently in Pravda 12 days ago.

Vershinin said major American and Western cities now could be blasted successfully by long and intermediate range rockets as well as by aircraft and submarines. He said the United States alone might suffer 50 million casualties in such an assault.

Authorities studying Radio Moscow's broadcasts have come up with these tentative conclusions about the publicity campaign:

1. The major reason behind it is a desire to simply boast and exult over Russia's success in apparently beating the United States to the punch in perfecting the guided missile.

2. At the same time Russia is seeking to frighten America's European allies into believing they are now exposed militarily despite their American alliances and Atlantic Pact defenses. The Kremlin undoubtedly hopes this will cause Europeans to pressure the United States either into withdrawing forces from Europe or agreeing to Soviet terms for an East-West disarmament agreement.

3. Home broadcasts undoubtedly are aimed at reassuring the Russian people of the superiority of the Communist system in developing means for protecting them against any surprise attack from the capitalist war-mongering powers.

Says He Has Effective New Vaccine For Common Cold

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 34-year-old Johns Hopkins scientist today held the attention of the medical world — as well as sneezers and sniffers everywhere — with disclosure he has developed an effective vaccine for the common cold.

Dr. Winston H. Price of the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health said that:

1. He has succeeded in isolating the first "true" virus of the common cold—one responsible for 30 per cent of the cases he has studied over a two-year period.

2. He has developed a vaccine which, in controlled tests on more than 400 persons, prevented colds caused by the "JH virus" in 80 per cent of the cases.

Can Be Mass-Produced

The possibility of mass-producing the vaccine is very good, Dr. Price indicated, although he begged off answering any questions about commercial production.

"I know nothing about that at research, I will make nothing out of this whatsoever."

But he said the JH virus has been sent to other laboratories and they have been able to cultivate it using the methods developed here.

shots, the second following the first by four weeks, Dr. Price said. He could not say how long the immunity would last.

He said the vaccine was made from killed JH virus and had produced no symptoms, discomfort or side effects. Reaction of the medical world was as cautious as it was scarce. Most researchers and virus experts declined comment until they have seen Dr. Price's scientific report.

Because common colds are caused by an unknown number of viruses, Dr. Price emphasized that his vaccine cannot be expected to be effective against all of them.

Teamsters

Committee report was formally released by AFL-CIO headquarters here after portions of it had become known.

It said Hoffa, Beck and Brewster, the union's West Coast boss, as well as other Teamsters officials were guilty of misusing Teamsters funds and powers. The committee's findings implied that expulsion of the Team-

State Medical Society Says Patients May Choose Doctors

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pennsylvania Medical Society resolution makes its members liable to charges of unethical conduct if they aid or participate in medical plans denying beneficiaries the right of free choice of doctor or hospital.

The society's House of Delegates passed the controversial resolution by voice vote during the closing minutes of its final session Tuesday.

Passage of the resolution, which had been tabled, withdrawn and reintroduced several times, was disclosed yesterday.

Several doctors saw the resolution as a bar to dealings with the United Mine Workers Welfare Fund. Exceptions, they believe, would apply in such cases as an industrial physician working in a plant.

Study Constitutionality
Constitutionality of the resolution is being studied by the society, said Dr. James Z. Appel of Lancaster, chairman of the society's Board of Trustees and a trustee of the American Medical Society.

The resolution was steered on its stormy parliamentary path by one of its authors, Dr. Saul M. Fleegler of New Kensington.

Any doctor convicted of unethical practices by his county medical society is subject to suspension or expulsion from that unit. However, censure does not strip him of his license to practice.

Society-UMW relations have been strained since the society in convention at Atlantic City last year declared its agreement with the UMW fund "null and void, terminated and ended."

The House of Delegates passed another resolution Tuesday, urging members to avoid dealings with the fund until differences could be resolved.

Scientific Sessions
Scientific sessions of the society's 107th annual meeting are continuing through the week.

Dr. Pascal F. Lucchesi, chairman of the society's committee on preventive medicine and public method of making the available supply of Asian flu vaccine go five times as far.

This can be done, he said, by injecting the vaccine between the skin layers, instead of underneath the skin as now recommended, and using only one-tenth of the usual dosage in two inoculations. The inoculations would be spaced three to four weeks apart.

In another panel discussion, Lawrence Irwin, vice president of the Blue Cross plan in western Pennsylvania said the plan could save 5 million dollars annually if the hospital stay of each patient was reduced by just one day.

He said doctors and hospitals are equally to blame for what he called needless extensions of hospital stays.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — A charter presentation was held recently for York Springs Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in the York Springs Fire Hall. The meeting was opened with the invocation by the Rev. William Ocker, pastor of the Church of God, followed by the Scout Oath and the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. The address of welcome was made by Melvin Prosser, president of York Springs Lions Club. The Boy Scouts demonstrated treatment of a person in shock and how to care for and treat a person when in shock. Lloyd Lerew, Cubmaster, gave a report on the accomplishments of the pack and awarded Bobcat badges. Stanton Kennedy gave the report of the accomplishments of the First Class Scout. Sebastian Hafer, commissioner chairman sters would follow not only election of Hoffa as the union's president but even his retention in the union in any capacity.

The report said that Beck, whose personal use of Teamsters funds initially sparked the AFL-CIO action against his union, had misused more than $370,000 of union money and had brought the entire labor movement into disrepute.

SIGNS POINT TO DODGER MOVE, OFFICIAL SAYS

NEW YORK (AP)—"Straws in the wind indicate the Dodgers are going to Los Angeles."

So said a Brooklyn club official after having been informed of New York City's Board of Estimate's announcement after a two-hour session late yesterday that it had nothing to announce.

The board had been called for an emergency session, a day in advance of its regular meeting, to reconsider a new proposal presented by millionaire Nelson Rockefeller to Mayor Robert Wagner and Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, designed to prevent the club from pulling up stakes and going west.

The club official, who asked not to be identified, was obviously nettled by the board's failure to come to a decision.

"While Los Angeles comes through with firm offers, this city continues to hold emergency meetings — and continues to do nothing," he said.

There is still a chance the nine-man board might come to a decision at today's meeting, although that, too, was doubtful in view of Mayor Wagner's description of yesterday's session as "an exploratory discussion."

The details of Rockefeller's latest plan were not disclosed, but the proposal presumably was a further development of his earlier offer of financial aid toward condemnation of land in the downtown Brooklyn area designed by O'Malley for a new Dodger stadium.

of the Black Walnut District, presented the Cub and Scout charters which were accepted by the institutional representative, Melvin Whorley, who in turn presented the charters to the Lions Club president, Melvin Prosser, the sponsors. The committee registration cards were presented by Mr. Hafer to Lloyd Lerew for the Cubs and Albert Townsend for the Boy Scouts.

Stanley Rodgers, field representative of the Black Walnut District, spoke briefly on the importance of being a Scout.

Harry W. Guise, neighborhood commissioner of the York Springs troop, served as master of ceremonies. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Melvin Prosser, York Springs, was awarded first prize for a needle-point belt at the South Mountain Fair.

Rev. Norman Bortner and Peter J. Griest attended the Rural Life Conference of the Central Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod held at Selinsgrove on Friday night and Saturday morning.

Miss Naomi (Amy) Gardner was buried in Sunnyside Cemetery last week. She had resided at Philadelphia. She was a daughter of the late William Gardner and a sister of Daniel Gardner who lived in the house now owned by Mrs. Vinnie Smith. One brother, William C. Gardner, of Seattle, Wash., attended the funeral.

Mrs. Alfred Mantle, Jersey Shore R. 2, spent several days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leer, and family. Mrs. Leer returned home from the hospital Friday with a baby boy, whom they have named Leonard Eric.

Mrs. L. C. (Millie) Pittenturf will observe her 90th birthday on Sunday. She was the former Millie Miller and has always resided in Adams County. She resides with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pittenturf. She has two other sons, Clair, York Springs, and Carl, Mechanicsburg.

Miss Janet Golden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Golden, had a tonsillectomy at the Carlisle Hospital this week.

Visitors' Day will be observed at the Methodist Home for Children at Shiremanstown Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

CALL TROOPS TO MAINTAIN STRIKE PEACE

By SAM SUMMERLIN
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Machine guns and bayonets maintained order today in this strikebound capital amid rumors of revolt.

Heavily armed soldiers and sailors took over all public and private cable and telephone company offices yesterday. They evicted employees who have been staging two weeks of sitdown and go-slow strikes.

More trouble lay ahead, however. The office workers' union voted a 12-hour sympathy strike to begin this afternoon. Metallurgical workers called a 15-minute walkout.

Amateur radio listeners in Santiago, Chile, heard reports a revolution had erupted against the provisional regime of President Pedro Aramburo.

Deny Cabinet Break

There was no confirmation here. But the communications strike had cut communications with the provinces and from abroad except for a trickle of messages.

(This dispatch was telephoned to New York in one of those brief periods when telephone calls were going out of Buenos Aires.)

A government spokesman denied rumors published abroad that the army had demanded Aramburo's and his Cabinet resign. The government took arms action against the communications workers after rounding up 100 union leaders and charging them with inciting other workers to strike. Among those held were 20 women.

After the roundup of the leaders, the unions of telephone and telegraph workers called for a general strike. They said the strike will continue until the leaders are released.

Appeal To Operators
Government broadcasts appealed to retired telegraph operators to take jobs on an emergency basis. High officials in the private cable companies handled essential messages.

The government and unions went into negotiations to try to settle the general strike.

The government, however, took the position the sitdowns and slowdowns were illegal. It withdrew recognition of employees' representatives named to negotiate a settlement.

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Maya Rubens, 17, of Somerset resigned today as Miss Pennsylvania Turkey Queen.

Miss Rubens, selected from five finalists, was crowned last night by William L. Henning, State Secretary of Agriculture. The contest was sponsored by the turkey growers division of the Pennsylvania Poultry Assn.

Runnerup was Miss Diane Dittling, 17, of Plumsteadville.

27 MEN FROM 14 NATIONS IN PLOW CONTEST

PEEBLES, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-seven men from 14 nations pitted skill and machinery against the tricky soil of Ohio's hill-dotted Adams County today in the start of a two-day test to pick the best plowman in the world.

This match is the big one in the annual World Conservation Exposition and plowing contest, being held in the United States for the first time in its five-year history.

From it will emerge two champions.

One will be the man who accumulates the most points for the way his tractor and plowshares turn over the earth in two half-acre plots, one of stubble and the other of sod.

The other is a clinch to be the plow, unchallenged as the basic tool of agriculture from the time a primitive human first scratched at the earth with a pointed stick, to today's age of mechanization.

Champion Reports
Lawrence Goettmoeller, Celina, Ohio, one of the two American contestants, qualified in the national level land matches last year for the 1957 world event here.

He repeated yesterday as national level land champion, thereby becoming eligible for the 1957 world contest. His world team-mate this year is John C. Daniels of Mulberry Grove, Ill., a national winner in 1956.

Duane Mootz of Hillsboro, Ohio, won the national contour contest yesterday and also qualified for the 1957 world matches.

George Horner of Centre Hall, Pa., the Pennsylvania level land plowing champion, scored 63½ points out of a possible 100 for 10th place in the national level land plowing contest.

In the contour plowing contest, Harold Forrester, Chambersburg, Pa., finished sixth with 66¼ points and Myron Young, also of Chambersburg, tied for ninth with 61¼ points.

CLARK WARNS PLAN NEEDED FOR INCODEL

POCONO MANOR, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) says "unplanned development of our great river systems is heading us straight for chaos."

Clark, speaking last night at the annual conference of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, declared that planning must begin now for the use of water in the next 50 years.

"It is vital for both planners and politicians to act before it is too late," he said. INCODEL is made up of officials of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

Two Immediate Needs
Clark said these two things were needed quickly in Delaware River planning:

1. "A sensible, acceptable, comprehensive plan for the integrated development of the water resources of the Delaware Basin."
2. "Proper implementation of that plan through political channels to meet the social and economic needs of the region as they develop in the next 50 years."

Clark said the needs of the next 50 years are "water to drink, hydroelectric power, fish and wildlife development, recreational development, improved navigation,

Attorney General Defends Act Of Superseding Lawrence D.A.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride says he superseded Dist. Atty. Perry L. Reher of Lawrence County in the New Castle criminal libel case because he said Reher had full knowledge of the alleged offense and failed to prosecute.

McBride's answer was contained in a brief filed last night in compliance with a Supreme Court Order directing him to show cause why he superseded Reher last month.

A deputy attorney general obtained Lawrence County grand jury indictments against eight New Castle residents charging them with writing, printing and distributing obscene literature attacking political candidates prior to last May's primary election.

Reher asked the Supreme Court last Friday to overrule McBride and restore his power to conduct cases before the grand jury. A Republican, he charged McBride's act was political. McBride is a Democrat.

McBride, in his brief, denied he acted politically in superseding Reher.

"May Have Benefited"

Then the attorney general charged that the distribution of the circulars was calculated to aid Reher's bid for renomination on the Republican ticket. (One of the circulars attacked Howard W. Lyon, Reher's opponent for the nomination.)

The brief noted that Reher defeated Lyon by 412 votes and said that Reher "may have benefited from the alleged violations."

McBride said a number of the eight indicted persons actively supported Reher's candidacy in the primary with Reher's knowledge and consent.

He said Reher "with full knowledge that the offenses had been committed x x x had neglected to prosecute the same."

And finally, McBride said, Reher "had indicated that he did not intend to proceed with the investigation and prosecution for violations committed in connection with the x x x circulars."

Delay Defended

In view of the foregoing, McBride said, "the proper administration of justice required that the petitioner (Reher) should not thereafter lay before the grand jury other Commonwealth cases."

The attorney said continuance of trials for the eight until December was proper in order to give him more time to consider whether criminal prosecutions would be instituted against Reher and Andrew Marmo of New Castle who were named in the presentment of the grand jury as co-conspirators.

Judge Burton R. Laub of Erie County, called in to charge the grand jury, voided presentment because no information had been filed against Reher and Marmo.

Faubus Reported To Plot Two More Racial Efforts

By BELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus is approaching the climax of his long-drawn duel with the federal government over integration, and reports circulated today that he is ready to take the offensive through two important legal maneuvers.

Faubus is under summons to appear in federal court tomorrow morning.

At the hearing, government attorneys will ask U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies to issue a temporary injunction against Faubus. If granted — and there is little doubt of that in Little Rock — it will command the governor to withdraw the National Guard from Central High School and open the doors for Negro students to enroll.

Plan Two Motions

An informant highly placed in the state Democratic party, however, said Faubus' attorneys will offer two motions first.

He said they will ask Judge Davies to disqualify himself to hear the arguments.

And then, whether he does this or not, the source said, they will demand to see the secret FBI report on the situation in Little Rock prior to Sept. 3 when the high school opened for the fall term.

Faubus conferred most of yesterday with Rep. Hays (D-Ark.), believed to be the chief link between the governor and the White House.

Hays was the intermediary in arranging last week's meeting between President Eisenhower and Faubus.

U. S. Sends Aides

Two Department of Justice attorneys arrived last night to assist U.S. Dist. Atty. Osro Cobb in the hearing Friday.

Little Rock is quiet but tingling with expectancy as the showdown in court draws near.

If Faubus' attorneys ask Judge Davies to disqualify himself, it will be on the basis of actions and words that preceded the blockade by guardsmen around Central High School.

It was Davies, a short, sharp-eyed jurist from Fargo, N.D., who handed down the order to integrate Central High Aug. 30. Later, he denied a petition by the Little Rock school board to postpone integration.

He said the arguments advanced were "anemic."

Faubus rejoined that Davies' actions were "arbitrary and high-handed." Only recently, the governor said he has not changed his opinion.

JURIST RESIGNS CHESTER BENCH

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Judge W. Butler Windle resigned yesterday as president judge of the Chester County Court after 30 years on the bench. The 71-year-old jurist, ill for several months, sent his resignation to Gov. Leader to become effective Oct. 1.

Judge Windle, a Republican, would have completed his third 10 year term at the end of this year. He was not seeking reelection.

Samuel Lichtenfeld, chairman of the county Democratic committee, said he will recommend the appointment of Thomas C. Gawthrop to serve out the remainder of Judge Windle's term. Gawthrop, former district attorney of Chester County, won both the Republican and Democratic nominations for the new term in the spring primary. He will be unopposed in the general election.

For that evening party, you might like to heat small-size frankfurters in a barbecue sauce and serve on toothpicks. If you have a chafing dish, use it on your table for keeping the franks and sauce warm.

SHAPIRO ASKS PUBLIC DEBATE WITH CRITICS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democrat Harry Shapiro is seeking a public debate with Republican critics of his administration of the State Welfare Department.

Yesterday he invited all Republicans "prematurely campaigning for the offices of governor and senator to appear on a public platform with me one at a time or all together."

There was no immediate response from GOP leaders.

He declared this is necessary because "keeping up with the Joneses may be a pleasure to some people but keeping up with the Blooms is too time consuming for me."

He named Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom as his chief tormentor.

"There (public platform) they can make any charge or ask any questions concerning the mental health program with the questions and answers going on the record."

"Following that I hope that Mr. Bloom et al will pursue their respective campaigns on a more dignified, truthful and higher level so that I may be permitted to devote my time to the responsibilities of the position to which Gov. Leader appointed me," Shapiro declared at the end of a 1,500 word statement.

In it he stoutly refuted GOP claims that the Leader administration is playing politics with the mental health program.

Noting the number of recent attacks by Bloom on mental hospital administration, Shapiro said the record showed Republican interest in the matter was of recent date.

"For the 14 years of Republican administration, nothing was done for these unfortunate people (mental patients) but much was done to them," he said.

Letter to the Editor

September 14, 1957

The Editor,
Gettysburg Times,
Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Perhaps many of the people of Gettysburg are not aware that their town can be justly proud of the fact that one of her former citizens has become one of the truly great and outstanding preachers of the day.

Dr. William H. Kadel, a native of Gettysburg, and now the minister of The First Presbyterian Church of Orlando, Florida, is a man who possesses a brilliantly creative mind and who lives a life that is dedicated to the very best to be found in his profession. He has not only endeared himself to his congregation numbering more than three thousand members, but each Sunday he delivers sermons which are equal in power and inspiration to that of the sermons of the most widely known preachers of this generation. I am proud and consider myself to be fortunate to be a member of his congregation.

Very sincerely,
R. A. Bagshaw

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mrs. Delvina Wheelon, Cincinnati radio broadcaster and former Powers model, became the first woman ever to be given the Air Force Association Citation of Honor.

She was named "Supersonic Sweetheart" of the AFA. The honor was the result of her having flown faster than the speed of sound as a jet plane passenger last May 12. Mrs. Wheelon made the flight with the permission of the Air Force over Lake Erie in a Lockheed F-94C "Starfire."

Turner Is Upset Winner Over Atkins

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Gil Turner, the hustler guy from Philadelphia, was high up in the welterweight picture again and looking for a title shot today after his upset victory over lethargic Virgil Atkins.

Turner's decision victory over Atkins in their telecast 10-rounder last night was his third straight. He had beaten middleweight Yama Bahama and Del Flanagan previously.

Referee Joey Mangold, the only official, awarded the verdict to Gil on a 5-4-1 score in rounds. Turner had to win the last round, according to Mangold's card, and he did that in typical storming fashion.

Strong at 151 pounds, Turner kept the pressure on his lurching, 149½-pound opponent throughout.

Denies Ouster

Gen. Phao Sryuanond, Thailand's police chief, arrives in Rome Wednesday where he denied being ousted from his post or asked to leave his homeland in the recent military coup. However, Sryuanond told newsmen that he didn't "like" Thailand's new boss, Marshal Sarit Thanarat, who ousted Premier P. Pibulsonggram in a bloodless coup. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Rome)

Although Cameron residents evacuated, the storm bypassed the area when it veered to the east.

Meanwhile, Hurricane Carrie was reported still carrying winds of 85 miles an hour, with the storm center located about 700 miles east northeast of Bermuda.

18 Miles An Hour

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington said Carrie was moving to the east at a speed of about 18 miles an hour, and was expected to switch to an east-south-east direction for several hours.

One of the earliest snowstorms in years hit the northern Rockies and with the snow came a rapid drop in temperatures. Highest readings in some Montana cities yesterday, around freezing, were about 36 degrees below the seasonal normal.

A foot of snow was reported at Helena, the capital city, one of the largest on record for the date.

The cold air moved into North Dakota and Minnesota, with temperatures dipping into the 30s. Light snow fell in sections of North Dakota.

LEGION SEEKS PENSIONS FOR NEEDY, AILING

By JAMES DEVLIN
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Legion, closing its 39th annual convention today, is asking Congress for almost half a billion dollars a year in pensions for needy or disabled veterans.

The Legion refused in two hours of debate yesterday to consider proposals calling for pensions for all veterans at the age of 65.

It approved a resolution providing that a veteran of World War I, II or Korea be deemed totally disabled when he reaches 65 — provided his income is less than $1,400 yearly if single or $2,700 yearly if married.

Those under 65 would get the pension only if totally disabled. The proposal of the 2,800,000-member organization also would increase present disability payments up to $14.55 monthly.

Boost Monthly Rates
It would increase monthly rates of $66.15, $78.75 and $135.45 for various categories of disability to $75, $90 and $150 respectively.

The Pennsylvania delegation introduced the resolution. It was approved unanimously by the convention's Rehabilitation Committee. The convention threw down attempts to amend it to make the disability age 60 years.

Legion sources said present disability payments would cost the government $666,468,962 next year and that if the new plan is approved by Congress it would cost an additional $487,597,208.

They said the proposed plan would make about 350,000 additional veterans eligible to collect benefits.

The Legion estimated that by June 30 next year there will be 1,047,000 World War I veterans and 22,000 World War II veterans 65 or older.

MAN IS JAILED
Stanley L. Donahoe, Cumberland R. 1, Md., is in the Adams County jail in default of $5 fine and costs after he pled guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly brought Wednesday by borough police before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore. Donahoe was arrested Tuesday evening at 9:30 o'clock on N. Washington St.

Three times in 1956 Tod Sloan rode the winners in five races on a six-race program.

"Stability And Low Rate Of Teacher Turnover" Here Pleased Evaluators In '54

Committee Of Educators Noted "Fine Spirit Of Cooperation" By Staff And GHS Administration

Fifth And Final Article In A Series

"The admirable degree of stability and the commendably low rate of teacher turnover" in the Gettysburg High School drew favorable comment from the Committee of 16 educators who evaluated the local school during a three-day inspection of the local school. Their complete report recently was made public.

The Committee of 16, headed by Principal Richard K. Smith of the Springfield Twp. High School in Delaware County, concluded its 17-page written report with their evaluation of the school plant and the school staff and administration.

Earlier sections had dealt with the pupils, courses of study and individual surveys of the staff and curriculum in every department of the school.

Praise For Principal

Many of the recommendations made by the Committee of 16 both with regard to the school plant and administration have been accomplished in the last three years. When the survey was made the changes in the original high school building which involved changing the old auditorium into a spacious new library with offices and conference rooms, the creation of health offices and the erection of the auditorium-classroom addition to the high school which was dedicated in the fall of 1955, had not been made.

The Committee of 16 noted "an excellent spirit of cooperation between administration and staff" and described the clerical staff as "hard working and efficient."

Principal G. W. Lefever came in for special praise from the visiting educators who found "he is doing an excellent job in providing education leadership for his school." The report added: "He has an excellent knowledge of his teachers, his pupils and his community."

Excellent Community Relations
The committee added this observation: "The community relations of the school seem excellent and the participation of the superintendent (then Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe), the principal and faculty in affairs of the community is largely responsible for this."

The long list of recommendations with regard to staff and administration contained many that have been completely or partially completed.

The committee suggested that teaching loads in the high school be decreased to provide the teachers at the high school with some school time for planning.

There were recommendations, too, that more administrative and clerical help be secured and that the custodial staff be enlarged. The report also suggested that the superintendent assign more of the business details to the business manager "so that he will be able to furnish more time for educational leadership and the improvement of instruction."

Salary Suggestions
The committee recommended, too, the formation of a professional library with steps to be taken to encourage the staff to make use of it.

The committee suggested that the high school principal's salary "be adjusted to provide an adequate differential over the teaching staff and to be put more in line with salaries of principals in comparable districts and the duties and responsibilities of the position." The report suggested that a $1,000 increase would be a "fair start" in that direction.

A later section of the report proposed that the joint school board consider salary schedules for teaching, clerical, custodial and cafeteria staffs "to attract and retain the best personnel."

Salary schedules adopted since by the board have meant salary increases not only for the principal but for teachers and other school district employees.

Suggest Maintenance Supervisor

The report suggested that a qualified maintenance supervisor be secured to organize and supervise maintenance, and that all transportation be organized and administered by a central office. There was no elaboration of that point and no one could say whether the committee meant by that recommendation that the joint district should buy and operate its own buses.

Other parts of this section of the report proposed a supervised program of "in-service training." There were recommendations also for more nursing service and a dental hygienist.

A study of the extra-pay schedule "to better effect an overall balance in extra-curricular activities as well as a balance between members of the staff was recommended."

Introducing the section of the report on the School Plant, the committee commended the administration on "the excellent job of self-evaluation that was done on the school plant." The report added: "Most of the recommendations made here were also recognized in the self-evaluation."

Okayed New Auditorium

The Committee of 16 called the plans for the new auditorium "excellent."

Cafeteria and kitchen areas in the high school were described as "outstanding for spaciousness, utility and beauty" and the opinion was expressed that these facilities should provide "for future needs for many years to come."

These other favorable notes were made on the local school plant:

"The school is well located in that it is easily accessible to the school population and yet far removed from the noises of industry and traffic."

Note Farsightedness

"The administration and school board has shown farsightedness in acquiring twenty-three additional acres for future expansion which will also allow for recreational and parking expansion."

"The exterior of the building seemed attractive and well kept and the interior appeared clean and orderly."

"The natural illumination of all classrooms seems good and the artificial illumination in the new additions is excellent."

"The temperature control and ventilation in the new building is excellent and the fact that separate heating controls are in each area of the building is highly commendable."

"The installation of a zoned fire alarm system is a fine idea."

Many Recommendations

The committee's recommendations with regard to school plant, many of which have already been followed or are being followed from year to year, follow:

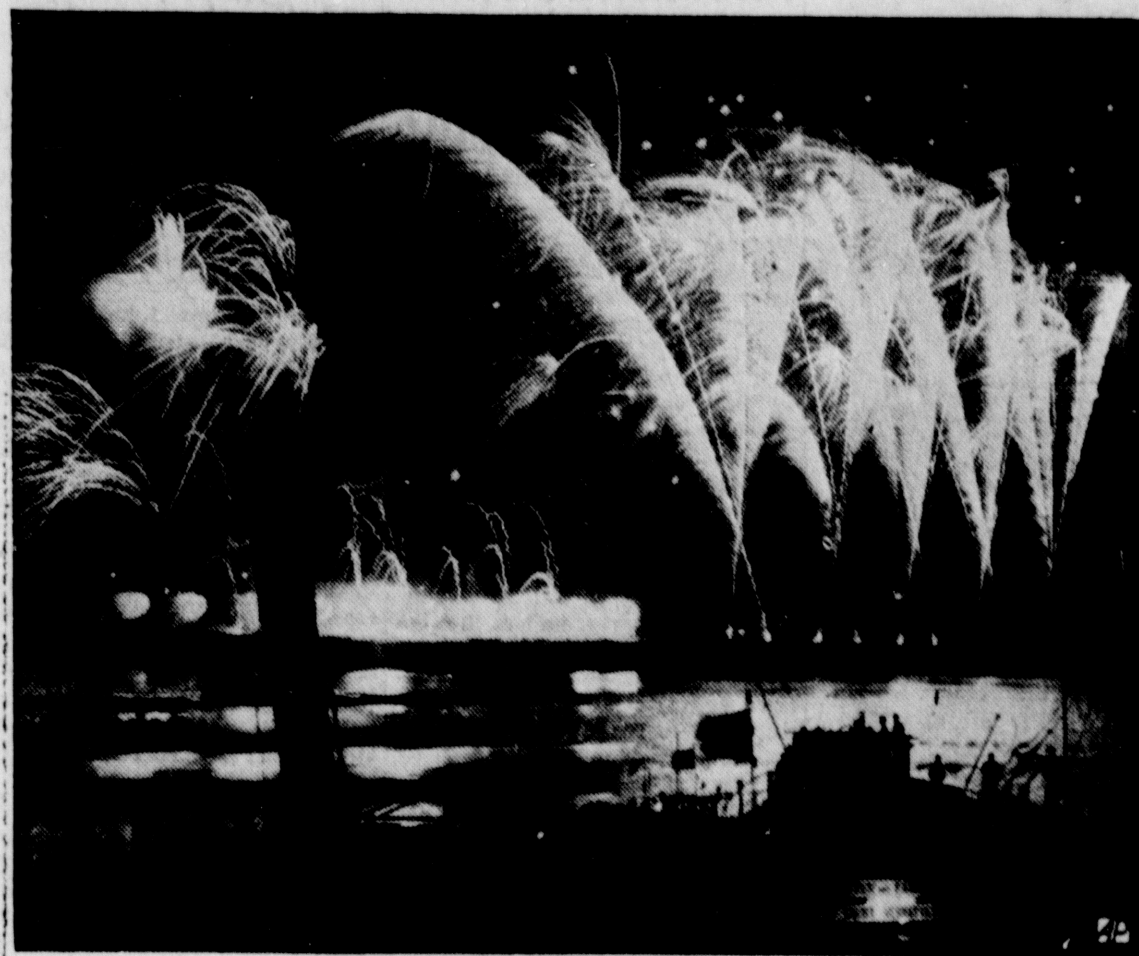

"That some thought be given to the alleviation of traffic congestion at dismissal time."

"That thought be given to the acquisition of some of the buildings at the entrance of the grounds so that the building could be shown to better advantage."

"That the light posts be kept in better condition."

"That the safety illumination at night around the exterior of the building be improved."

"That the interior of the original

ROCKETS ON THE RHINE — Fireworks light the night sky over Dulsberg as the Rhine port city celebrates finale of the European Rowing Championships held in the city.

"That the lavatories in the original building be painted."

Suggestion On Fire Drills

"That lavatories and work rooms be provided for faculty members."

"That the janitorial supply room and back stage areas of the auditorium be cleared of combustible supplies."

"That more fire extinguishers be placed throughout the school."

"That the fire drill receive more faculty supervision for orderly exits and moving away from the building."

"That all stationary furniture be replaced as soon as possible and that all older class rooms be repainted."

"That telephones be placed in all offices."

"That more adequate facilities be made available for the nurse for medical examinations and routine treatments."

The first commercial ice plant in the United States was operated in Jefferson, Texas, about 1874.

PURKEY FINDS STRIKE ZONE; NOW WINNER

By JOE BRADIS
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Most of the Pittsburgh Pirates' staff last spring felt that pitcher Bob Purkey needed more seasoning. A decision was made to keep the 28-year-old home-grown 6-foot-3 right hander.

It was an excellent move for Purkey late in July became the first Pirate pitcher to achieve 10 victories this season. And he has been picking on the big clubs, having beaten Brooklyn three times and Milwaukee and St. Louis once each in his first 10 wins.

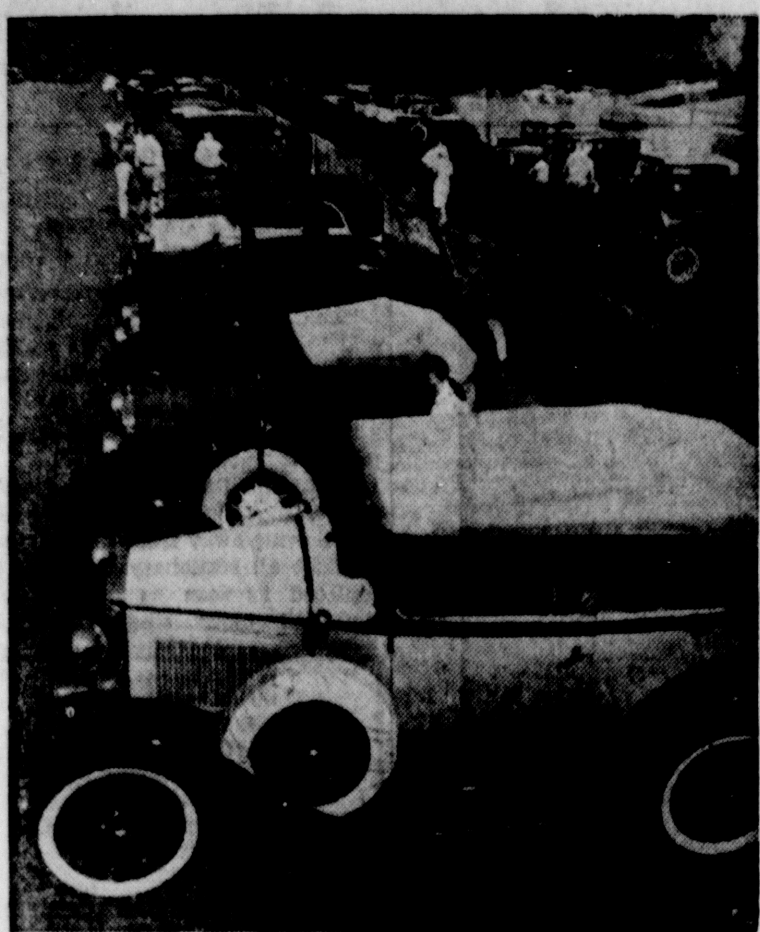

"He's not a nibbler anymore," ousted manager. "He's found the strike zone. Last year he was always behind the batter."

Bragan used Purkey in relief early in the season against the Dodgers. He won and has been a starting pitcher ever since, even under new pilot Danny Murtaugh.

Injured Knee
Purkey figured prominently in Pittsburgh's 1956 plans until he wrenched a knee in spring training. It put him out of commission and he was optioned to Hollywood, Calif. He had a 6-8 record in the Pacific Coast League and the Pirates brought him back for a third time.

He wanted to play winter ball in one of the Latin countries and became a bit peeved when General Manager Joe L. Brown refused his request. But he now agrees it was the right move.

"I was worried about my knee for a long time," says Purkey. "I love to pitch and all I needed was confidence. I think I've got it now."

Purkey has been in the Pirate organization ever since he broke in with Greenville in the Class D Alabama State League in 1948, fresh out of high school.

Good Minor Record
He was great from the start, winning 19 with one game a one-hitter. The next year he was promoted to Davenport, Iowa, and compiled a 17-6 Three-Eye League record. Another promotion had him in AA ball and a 12-12 record with New Orleans. After two years in the service it took him a long time getting back in the groove. The Pirates tried him in 1954 and again in '55 but each time he lacked something. He started back on the winning road with New Orleans in 1955, winning 6 out of 10 decisions while compiling a 2.46 earned run mark.

While the Pirates seem to be headed nowhere in particular, it might be well to watch Purkey who this season has been making a strong effort to overcome his 5-15 record of previous years with the Pirates.

DOGS

by Felby Manning
GIVE YOUR DOG A FLEA "DIVORCE"

Nobody quite knows why, or even if it's true, but the story persists that there are no fleas on the dogs in Reno. There are various waggish tales about residence requirements, trial separations, etc., but those are probably best overlooked with a sigh.

Animal experts think that such a phenomenon, if it is possible, must be due to a combination of altitude, crisp dry air and the nature of the soil in that particular part of Nevada.

All of which doesn't help the millions of dog owners in the rest of the country, those who have no motive to visit or take up residence in Reno. For them, however, there are tried and practical methods of ridding their pets of fleas.

One of the most effective and efficient methods is to dust the dog with flea powder containing five to ten per cent DDT. The label will tell whether the powder includes the specified amount.

The simplest way to powder the dog is to stand him on spread-out newspapers, and then, starting behind the ears, dust the powder into his coat so that it sifts through the hair down to the skin. Then turn him on his back and sprinkle the chest and abdomen.

If the weather permits, do the dusting outside, because the minute he's loose he'll shake furiously. Wait an hour, then give him a thorough combing and brushing to remove excess powder and dead fleas. A dampened cloth or chamomile will take off any remaining powder.

Inflation has hit the American public again. In 1956 accident costs rose to $11,200,000,000 — $900,000,000 more than in 1955.

Contributing to the cost increase was an increase in accidental deaths and injuries. Deaths rose to 95,000 — an increase of 2,000 — and injuries to 9,600,000, an increase of 150,000.

Ways to curb these spiraling figures and reduce accidents — the nation's fourth leading cause of death — will be studied by 12,000 safety experts when they meet here October 21-25 for the 45th National Safety Congress and Exposition.

While the safety men will be concerned during the five-day convention with the high cost of accidents, they will seek to cut it not by reducing the cost of each accident, but by preventing accidents in the first place.

The Congress — the annual convention of the National Safety Council and the world's largest safety convention — will attract persons from all parts of the United States, Canada and several foreign countries. Nine hundred speakers and program participants will address 300 sessions in six of Chicago's largest hotels.

"The Congress is not a glamor convention," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council. "There are no uniforms, no bands, no beauty queens. But I know of no meeting anywhere which has had more influence on the day-to-day security and happiness of everyone in America."

"Many of the things that seem commonplace today — the guards on industrial machines, traffic signals on corners, safety lessons for school children — have come out of the world's melting pot of safety ideas — the National Safety Congress."

Speakers at opening sessions will include Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts, of Alabama; Maj. Gen. B. K. Young, of London, director-general, the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents;

The Weeders Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — Days are beginning to be noticeably shorter, the nights will soon become downright chilly and gardeners in most of the nation are getting ready to plunge into one of the busiest periods of the year. It is exhausting merely to contemplate the schedule on a hot day: earliest bulbs to be planted; later bulbs to be ordered; perennials to be divided and transplanted; lawns to be patched and reseeded; weed seeds to be caught and dispatched; perennial beds to be fed; new plant material — trees and shrubs — to be set in the ground. The work seems endless and never ending. And there is only one way to tackle the jobs: one at a time.

The best approach is with a list.

N. Y., and Mr. Dearborn. Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois will address 2,000 delegates attending the annual banquet October 23.

First study the area, paper and pencil in hand. It's time to divide the big peony which has grown so big plant food can't reach the center — or to move the whole plant if after several seasons it has failed to bloom. Note that the lychins, growing unexpectedly tall in the front of the border, should be moved back, while the stokesia, shyly blossoming under the hedge, should be pushed into a noticeable spot. There's a gap in the shrubbery screen where the hemlock turned brown and died. Was it disease, lack of water or is there a rock working up from below? And how about replacing it with a Hawthorne or witchhazel to give some seasonal color to the screen?

Some jobs are better — or just as well — done in the springtime. For instance, late blooming flowers and shrubs usually are the ones best moved or planted in spring. The ones which bloom early and mid-season, from bleeding heart and lily-of-the-valley to columbine and delphinium are the ones to work with now. There are, I understand, some 300,000 known varieties of plants, most of which have individual needs. Therefore, it is a wise gardener who studies up on each gardening project before taking hoe or spade in hand.

Although various trees and shrubs have times when they most appreciate pruning, this is an especially good time to look them over for dead and dying branches. These can and should be trimmed out any time, for they are bad for the whole plant. A dead branch should be cut clean and close to the trunk and, if it leaves a big scar, should be covered with wound paint to prevent entrance of disease.

"Siwash," a word of Chinook jargon meaning "any Indian," is believed to be a corruption of the French word "Sauvage" (or "savage").

On The House

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

We're asked a lot of questions about various aspects of painting the outside of a house, but nearly all the queries about interior painting concern one thing — ceilings.

Nobody, it seems, likes to paint a ceiling. It's harder work than painting walls and the results aren't always so good as expected. Yet it must be done before the walls if you want to do it right. Painting a ceiling after the rest of the room has been redecorated is the difficult way to do it. You have to take extra precautions and work extra carefully to keep from spoiling what you've already done.

Modern paints have gone a long way towards eliminating lap and brush marks, but it's still wise to paint a ceiling only when you have the time to do it all at once. Stopping in the middle of the job . . . to eat lunch, run up to the store for more paint, etc. — is looking for trouble. Regardless of whether a brush or a roller is being used, there's always the chance of leaving a faint line at the point where the painting was halted.

Make A Scaffold

A single stepladder is not practical for painting a ceiling, since it will have to be moved far too often. A better way is to use two stepladders, with a plank set up between them to form a sort of scaffold. In some cases, it's more convenient to use a table or some other piece of furniture as long as you're certain it is steady and you take steps to keep it from getting scuffed or splattered. If you're using a roller, you might consider the purchase of one of those handle arrangements which enables you to reach the ceiling while standing on the floor, although you'll still have to climb on something to use a brush in the corners and other tight spots.

As much furniture as possible should be removed from the room, especially lamps and other things which might be knocked over you are standing on. A brush should be dipped in about an inch or so and flowed on with light strokes. Do not brush it out too much. Just apply enough pressure so that it spreads uniformly. Too much dripping down the handle of the brush means that the paint has been thinned too much, the brush is being dipped too deeply, too much pressure is being applied, or all three.

In much the same way, a roller should not be overloaded. The excess paint should be rolled out on the upper part of the roller ramp, which has ridges for that purpose. Work slowly, moving the roller along in even strokes. Little spots of paint are thrown out ahead of the roller when it is moved too rapidly.

22 GREAT GETTYSBURG SHOPPING CENTER STORES Open Friday and Saturday Nights to 9

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDREW C. LANG

The Associated Press

Unless you check with your local authorities, you never can be quite sure how much electrical work you can do around your home. The regulations are made, of course, for your own safety. But regulations or not, it's a good idea to know something about the electricity in your house, even if you never expect to do anything more useful in that line than changing a fuse.

Speaking of changing a fuse, the important point in that simple operation is to use a replacement of the same amperage. A fuse protects an electrical circuit. It's a sort of emergency alarm. When it blows out, it means that the circuit is overloaded or there is a break in the line. If the fuse did not blow out, overheated wires would result in a fire. When a fuse is rated at 15 amperes, it means, generally speaking, that it will carry a certain load of electricity before it gives way. If you put in a new fuse that is rated higher, it will carry a heavier load all right — but the protection will disappear.

Same Amperage

The lesson: when a fuse blows out, always replace it with a fuse of the same amperage. And since you know it blew out for a reason, find out what the reason is. Did you have too many appliances connected to one circuit? Or is there a break in one of the extension or appliance cords?

It used to be considered a smart idea to use a penny as a substitute for a fuse when a new one was not immediately available. Since a penny gives no protection to the circuit at all, lots of fires started that way. Although fire authorities have warned of this danger for years, investigations have shown that some householders still use pennies in place of blown fuses. By keeping a few extra fuses on hand at all times, there never will be any temptation to use a penny or any other substitute.

Many newer houses use circuit breakers instead of fuses, in which case a switch or lever is thrown to restore the flow of electricity. Also, there are several new types of fuses on the market, one of which calls for pushing a button, another for making a little adjustment which enables the fuse to be used several times before it becomes useless.

Same Purpose

Don't use wiring for purposes for which it is not intended. A lamp cord is perfectly safe when used as a lamp cord, dangerous when used as an appliance cord. Extension cords are useful, but are not to be used as permanent replacements for additional receptacle outlets. In doing any outdoor wiring, be sure to use weather-proof wiring and outlets. Don't immerse electric toasters or other appliances with heating elements in water. Power tools, washing machines and similar heavy-duty apparatus must be grounded. Prompt attention to frayed electrical cords will avoid short circuits. When there is a possibility of a small child pulling out a plug and poking something into the outlet, use the type of safety plug that cannot be removed by a child.

The average house circuit, which carries a 15-amp fuse, has a maximum capacity of 1,650 watts. All the fixtures and appliances attached to that particular circuit should not total more than 1,650 watts. Any appliance with an Underwriters Laboratory label on it has the wattage stamped on the name plate, so you can figure out yourself whether the line is overloaded.

Rubber-Coated Gas Tanks Used In Race

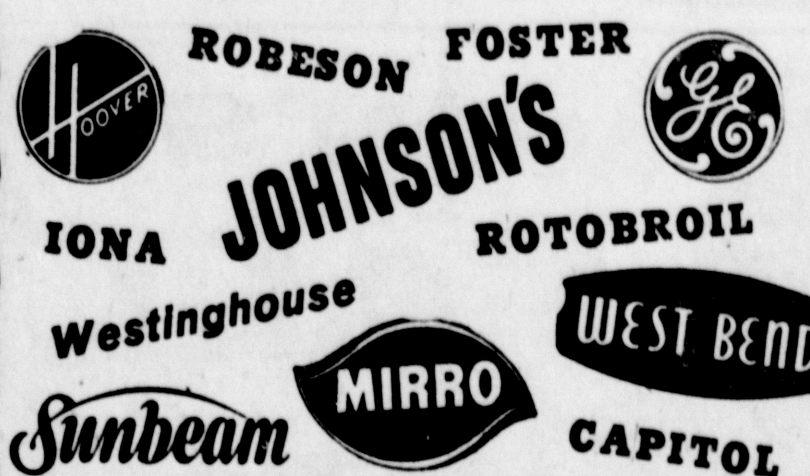

INDIANAPOLIS — Extra driver safety was provided by the use of rubber coating over fuel tanks on 14 cars in the 1957 Indianapolis 500-mile automobile race.

The coating, applied like paint over the outside of gas tanks, has prevented dangerous fuel spilling during accidents. The coating has withstood several crashes, reports a Los Angeles manufacturer.

Art Lewis has had only one losing season in seven years of coaching the West Virginia University football team. That was his first — 1950 — when his team won only 8 of 10 games.

DOGS

by Ferby Manning

LIFE INSURANCE FOR PETS
Interest in life insurance for dogs has increased in the United States to the point where there is now an insurance company which writes this kind of business exclusively.

Called the Animal Insurance Company of America and located in New York, the company has been approved by the New York State Insurance Department.

Policies on eligible dogs in the United States and Canada are now being issued. The president estimates that about ten million pedigree canines in this country can be insured by his company. The top insurable limit for any one animal is $5,000, except by special agreement.

The rates are $8 per $100 of value of each dog with a minimum premium of $10. The policy term is 12 months and the age limits run from six months to nine years. However, animals seven years or over will not be eligible except under renewal of an existing policy.

Under a deductible group plan, rates have been set for ten or more dogs owned by an individual or members of an immediate family. These rates are $6 per each $100 of value with a minimum premium of $75 for the group. Under this plan, the top amount any one animal may be insured for is $2,000. Additional insurance over such amount is obtainable at the regular mortality rate of eight per cent.

The extent of coverage on pedigree dogs will be against loss by death from any cause, except poisoning, occurring within the policy's terms and conditions. It covers dogs anywhere within the boundaries of the United States and Canada.

COLLECTOR OF SHAGGY DOG STORIES
Clarence M. Olson, manager of the dog-food department of Swift & Company in Chicago, has a most unusual but appropriate hobby—he collects shaggy dog stories. For example, one of his favorites concerns a man and a dog who came into a bar where the man ordered two martinis. When they came, he handed one to the dog who promptly drank the cocktail, ate the glass until only the base and stem remained, walked to the door and left.

The bartender viewed this with amazement and announced that this was the craziest thing he had ever seen.

"Yeah," the man said, "he's a dumb dog. The stem is the best part."

Another concerns a dog that was being offered for sale at auction. A man in the back of the crowd, liking its appearance, was finally the successful bidder but had to pay a pretty price as there was someone in the front of the room bidding against him.

He was a little chagrined at having paid so much but went forward to claim the dog and was surprised to get a bill of sale made out for "one talking dog."

"You mean this dog can talk?" he asked.

Another one of Mr. Olson's fictional shaggy dogs was complaining to another dog that he felt poorly. Nothing physical... just bored, always tired, never really in top form.

"Why don't you see a psychiatrist?" the friend suggested.

"How can I see a psychiatrist? You know I'm not allowed on couches."

CANINE PEDICURE

Modern civilization has brought many problems to the dog but, too, it has often provided its own solutions. And so it is with the effect of hard roads and sidewalks on a dog's nails.

Long nails can make walking painful for a dog—particularly when he is on a hard surface to which he is unaccustomed. If they are allowed to grow, he is apt to favor them by walking flat footed, thereby pushing the weight far back over the pastern.

But, on the other hand, the dog that is almost constantly running on sidewalks needs attention far less often because the cement tends to wear the nails down and may keep them under control for a long time.

Nevertheless, whether it is once a month or only three or four times a year, just about every dog should have an occasional pedicure.

Best method is to clip the nails and they may then be smoothed up with a file if you wish—but this isn't really necessary.

Care must be taken never to cut too far back and get into the "quick," which is the live part of the nail. This is easily seen in white nails as the colored portion nearest the toe, but it is more difficult to see in dark colored nails. The safest procedure is to work from the under side where the quick section has a soft, spongy appearance in contrast to the hard brittleness of the nail itself.

Sweeten whipped cream with honey and serve with baked apples whose core cavities have been stuffed with dates and walnuts.

PHELAN FEELS
MOUNT CAGERS
WILL BE TOUGH

Jack Sullivan has laid aside his gear after four record smashing years as a Mountaineer cager and is headed either for the Peoria Caterpillars or the Philadelphia Warriors. Even so Coach Jim Phelan expects his Mountaineers to be strong contenders for another trip to Evansville, Ind., and the small college tourney via a fifth straight Mason-Dixon title.

The road is apt to be rockier this year than in the past but Phelan has almost a veteran squad returning headed by sharpshooting Bert Sheing, who should go over 1,000 points career-wide this season, and Bill Williams who could be the key to the whole works. Returning also are Joe Sullivan, Tom Mullen, Tom Leonard, Jack Gunn, Jack Marshall, Jerry Bohlinger, and Bill Morse.

Squad losses, other than Sullivan, were Jack Halleron, who transferred to Holy Cross, and Eddie Galen, who was killed in an automobile accident.

Fresh Should Help
Some help should be forthcoming from the freshmen. Ticketed for registration are three highly touted schoolboy players, 6'7 Frank Pulkownik of Duquesne, Pa.; 6'4 Dick Talley, Gloucester, N. J., and 6'2 Jerry Savage of East Orange. They would give Phelan the bench strength he needs for the coming campaign and could push the regulars out of starting spots.

This year's schedule is less rugged than last year's when the Mountaineers won 27 and lost five in piling up a string of 21 straight victories. But the toughies are still around to test the Mountaineers. In addition to Mason-Dixon foes, the Blue and White will play Steubenville, St. Francis of Loretto, Villanova, Georgetown and St. Vincent's. They will also play a two night stand against Hofstra and King's Point with the first doubleheader at the Mount court and the second at Loyola. The Greyhounds and the Mountaineers will switch opponents at Evergreen. Top conference opposition should come from American and Loyola.

KENTUCKY PRIDE
COULD BE NEW CALUMET STAR

CHICAGO — A few days before the Arlington Park meeting came to an end, Jimmy Jones saddled the first 2-year-old of the year for Calumet Farm.

His name is Kentucky Pride. He was a very easy winner, by 5 lengths at 5½ furlongs in the good time of 1:07 over a slow track. Those, in the press box at the rich summer meeting agreed that Kentucky Pride will be heard from later in the year. Kentucky Pride has all the credentials for greatness. He is a son of Bull Lea — Blue Delight by Blue Larkspur.

His greatness could be put to the test in The Garden State Oct. 26, the country's richest race for 2-year-olds.

Other Hopefuls
Calumet's other 2-year-olds due to hit the races later in the year, are Tim Tam, Jeriel and Temple Hill.

Tim Tam is a dark brown colt from Tom Fool's first stud crop. His dam is the champion Two Lea. Jeriel is a California-bred by Khaled, who sired Swaps. Jeriel's dam is Jennie Lea.

Temple Hill is a Citation-Near Miss bay colt and may be Calumet's best bet for 3-year-old honors.

It has long been the practice of Trainer Jimmy Jones to hold Calumet juveniles back until late in the summer or early fall. He believes that a 2-year-old is a fragile animal and should be brought along slowly.

Calumet, which this year won the Kentucky Derby with Iron Liege after its star, Gen. Duke, went lame, picked up $190,141 last October in the Garden State with Barbizon. The colt was a supplementary entry which cost $10,000 as a late entry. That's why Jones is keeping all the Calumet youngsters eligible this time.

FOALS OF NEW SIRES GO HIGH
IN KENTUCKY

By BILL HUDSON

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Buyers at Keeneland's summer thoroughbred yearling auction dug deepest into their backrolls for colts and fillies by old standby sires, but first foals of several young sires also drew much attention.

For instance, Pet Bully, the horse on which leading jockey Bill Hartack began his ride to fame in 1954, had a colt and a filly at the sales and they went for a total of $21,750.

Pet Bully, runnerup to Native Dancer as the best handicap horse in 1954 and second to White Skies in sprinting that season, now belongs to a syndicate. A winner of 23 races, he earned $365,702. He is now 9 years old.

Harry F. Guggenheim's Turnto, winner of six of eight races in an abbreviated career, was represented by three yearlings. They brought $50,000 to the master of Cain Hoy Stable.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Native Dancer, winner 21 times in 22 starts, had two yearlings which averaged $13,150. Native Dancer, the gray son of Polynesian, was second in the 1953 Kentucky Derby, and champion of his age division each year he raced. Other sires represented for the first time in the sale included Blue Man, Royal Vale, Seacharger, Sub Fleet and One Count.

For the fourth straight year, the offspring of Nasrullah, pappy of racing's retired millionaire Nashua, led the summer sales. His four sons and daughters averaged $37,125.

Second was Royal Charger, missing from the 1956 list of 20 leading sires. His four colts and a filly averaged $28,200.

Alibhai, rated third last year, sired four colts and a filly averaging $26,060; Polynesian, No. 9, had four yearlings which averaged $22,625 and Princequillo, No. 4, had a colt and three fillies averaging $21,400.

JOINT SERIES
OPENS SEPT. 26
FOR COLLEGIANS

Saint Joseph College and Mount Saint Mary's College combined lecture and concert series will open September 26 at 7:30 p.m. with Bill Holcombe's "Holiday of Song." Thirty-five entertainers will provide instrumental and choral music including top Broadway hits, popular songs, semi-classical numbers, spirituals, and old favorites. There will be soloists, a barbershop quartet, featured dancers, a Dixieland combo. The attractive feature of this program will be the dance for the students of the two colleges after the program in De Paul auditorium. The guest orchestra will play for the dance.

Other concert attractions scheduled for this year's program include the following. A concert featuring a marimba artist, pianist, and tenor will appear at the College on November 5. On January 8, 1958, the Little Choral, comprised of four men and four women, under the direction of Donald Smith, with Gene Gayless, choreographer, will entertain. A representative program includes selections from the operas, little songs by the old masters, operetta, recent serious work, and Broadway music.

The Duquesne University Tam-burtones will appear February 3, and on March 26 a concert will be given by Gold and Fitzgerald, a two-piano team.

On November 24, "Othello" by William Shakespeare will be staged by the Canadian Players, Ltd. These Canadian players have been filmed in "Oedipus Rex," have appeared on "Omnibus," and they triumphed at the Edinburgh Festival.

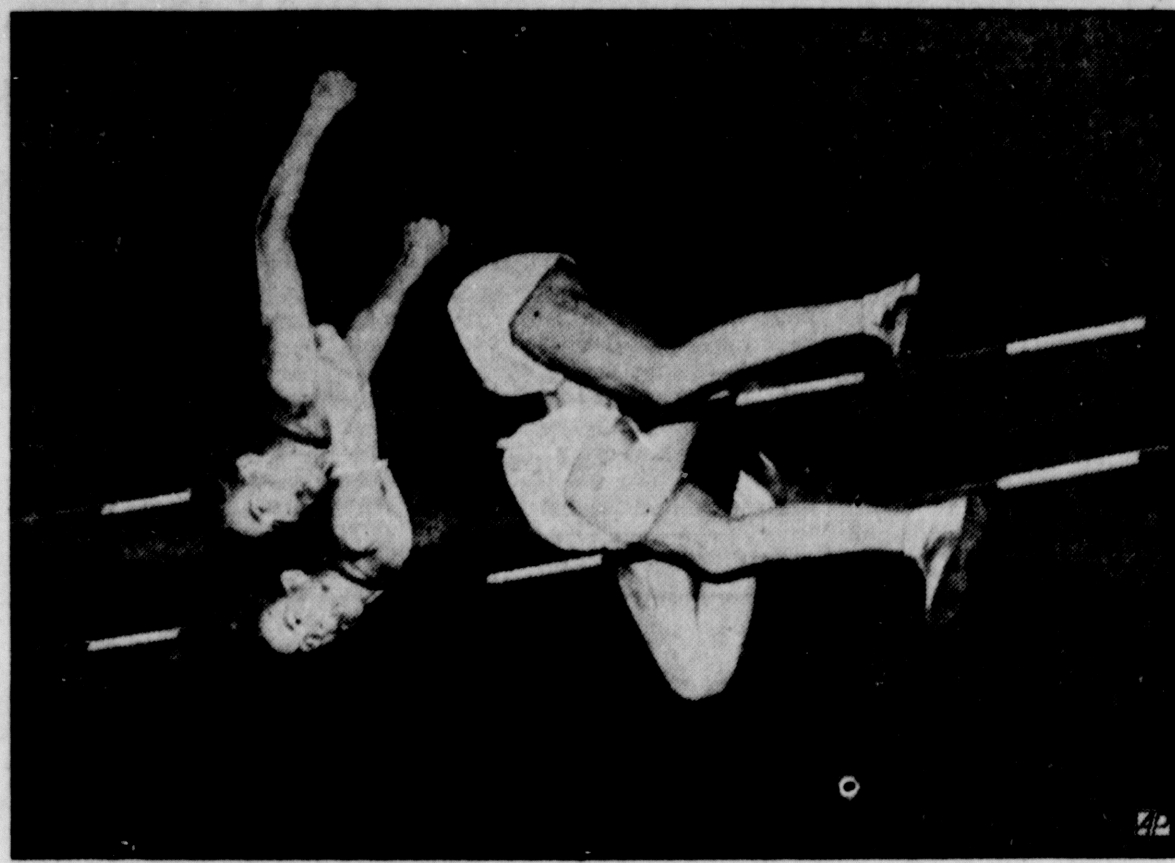

Lecturers to speak during the coming year will be Fenton Moran, on "Christian Humanism and Its Enemies," October 21; Dr. Paul Sih on China, November 18; Dr. William F. Albright on "The Dead Sea Scrolls," December 9; Dr. Joan Thel-lusson Nurse on "The Current Broadway Plays," February 27; Prince Constantine of Bavaria on "The Pope and Peace," March 20; and Dr. James B. Kelley on "The Peaceful Atom," April 17.

ADD COURSES AT ST. JOSEPH'S FOR ARTS STUDENTS

New courses introduced at Saint Joseph College for the calendar year 1957-58 will affect primarily the liberal arts curriculum and students in the upper classes.

Introduction to Social Case Work, open to seniors, is a course intended to introduce social studies majors to the case work approach. The students will be offered limited participation in a case work agency in operation as well as weekly participation in the trainee program of the Baltimore Social Welfare department.

Also open to seniors is a three-credit course in child psychology and development, to be offered to prospective teachers. For senior mathematics majors a seminar will be offered this year, consisting primarily of directed reading and study in contemporary publications.

Creative Writing

Junior and seniors may elect an advanced course in creative writing, which offers opportunity for the application of the techniques learned in the beginning course in writing. Contemporary Spanish Literature is also open to upper-level students. The course will begin with the "Generation of '98" and will include readings from works of important essayists, novelists, dramatists, and poets. Practical exercises in pronunciation and diction based on phonetics will be offered to junior students who choose the French diction course.

New courses for freshmen include an orientation course in philosophy. The student will be introduced to philosophical terminology and will study the development of philosophy as a discipline, its basic doctrines, and the relationship of philosophy to theology and the special sciences. A course entitled the Elements of Mathematics will acquaint freshmen with the meaning of numbers, number bases, fundamental operations of arithmetic, algebra, and geometry.

SJC CURRICULA
INCLUDE FIVE
MAIN DIVISIONS

Today Saint Joseph College is an institution for the higher education of Catholic women which purposes the formation of the well balanced individual who is keenly aware of her responsibilities to God, to her neighbor, to her country, and to herself. To this end the college offers an educational program which seeks the fourfold development of the whole woman, spiritually, intellectually, socially, and physically in the atmosphere of a small college.

For the realization of the objectives of spiritual, mental, and physical development, the college organization includes five divisions, namely: Religion and philosophy, humanities, natural science and mathematics, social sciences and nursing.

Through careful integration of these divisions, the student during the first two years of residence is afforded the opportunity of securing that broad cultural background which is regarded as the sine qua non of the liberally educated person. The curricula are so arranged that each student through the study of religion and philosophy may secure the proper spiritual and intellectual perspectives; through literature, language and social studies, the cultural heritage necessary for the appreciation of the true and the beautiful; and, through natural science and mathematics, the foundation of a sound scientific outlook.

Professional Courses

In addition, the college provides courses for students who are preparing for such professional fields as dietetics, education, journalism, nursing, social work, and medical technology.

Usually when the student enters her third year in college she begins a more concentrated study in one major field, which generally coincides with one of the departments of instruction.

SIX-IRON SHOT FROM TEE WAS BROSCH'S TOPS

WOODMERE, N.Y. — A 6 iron tee shot from a rubber mat takes the cake in Al Brosch's opinion as the best shot made during one of the greatest rounds of tournament golf ever played. It was back on Feb. 10, 1951, at the dusty and battered Brack-enridge Park course in San Antonio where the final two rounds of the Texas Open were being held that Brosch, then a 40-year-old pro from Garden City, N.Y., made headlines heard 'round the golfing world with a record making 60.

"I'd say my best shot that day was on the last hole," says Brosch today, now pro at The Woodmere Club. "I hit a 6 iron on the par 3 final hole. It looked like it was going straight into the hole. It flew right at the flag and went 15 feet beyond. I holed out for the deuce."

The 60 broke the record of 61 tournament strokes set in 1950 by Dow Finsterwald in St. Louis. It since has been equaled in tournament competition by five players—Byron Nelson, Bill Nary, Ted Kroil, Mike Souchak, and Wally Ulrich. The day Brosch set the record, 63 in the field of 95 broke par, but none came close to Brosch's phenomenal round. He had 11 birdies and 7 pars over the 6,400-yard public course. He also deuced the 10th hole and finished with three birdies — 3, 3, 2 and an incoming 30 to match his front nine score.

His 60 put him in second place, many days have gradually given way to modern college graduation exercises. The high-necked dotted swiss commencement dresses have been replaced by black academic caps and gowns. The harp and string recitals, the lengthy poetic readings accompanied by dramatic gestures, and the classical solos included in the two-hour long "distribution" ceremonies of the academy era have been replaced by the dignified and brief greeting given at the conferring of degrees during Commencement Week in June.

one shot behind Doug Ford. The next day Brosch, generally accepted as the best pro golfer on Long Island, "soared to a 70" and finished with a 268 total in fourth place. Ford and Dutch Harrison tied at 265 with Jack Burke Jr. two strokes back. In the playoff Harrison, affectionately called Old Folks, beat Ford by one shot with a 67.

In getting his 60, Brosch's iron play was unbelievable and his putting even more phenomenal. He needed only 23 putts, some of them 15 feet. On 13 greens he got down with one putt.

His threesome consisted of Jimmy Demaret and Chuck Klein. When it was over Demaret said: "There's a guy who has been putting everything in the hole."

Although a parttime tournament player, Brosch has won the Long Island PGA title six times and the Metropolitan New York PGA on four occasions. He has been competing in the National Open since 1936, and in 1937, at the age of 25, he finished in sixth place.

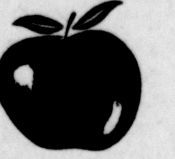

If he never wins another tournament he'll always remember that 60. An enlarged copy of his attested scorecard hangs in his pro shop.
